

The FCC is responsible to the people of this country to assure our free airwaves are used not for government propaganda, but to serve the public interest. For Sinclair Publishing to use its media power to promote its own political agenda by preempting prime time programs the public does desire to see, should be stopped by the FCC before it happens. How did it ever happen that one group was allowed to own 62 television stations?? The problem we are facing today is a direct result of this over-extension of power. If the FCC is unable to stop the anti-Kerry program from airing, equal time should be required in prime time prior to the election to air a pro-Kerry program. It's in the public's best interest.
